EXPERIENCE YOUR PERSONALISED TET CITY TOUR!

Jetsetters who frequent Vietnam's most dynamic metropolises are no strangers to Saigon's bustling energy with its cultural mix and busy streets. However, during the Vietnamese New Year, also known as Tet, they will find Saigon in a different light – mellow, unobtrusive, yet brimming with new year's blessings.

Start your morning with a hearty breakfast at Opera before embarking on a sightseeing of the city with our private tour guide. Be amazed at how Saigon quickly transforms its hustle and bustle into Tet's tranquil vibe with minimal noise. Amidst the streets devoid of honking motorbikes, you will have the chance to enjoy the magnificent view of the century-old Notre Dame Cathedral and Central Post Office.

These two iconic landmarks, designed by the renowned architect Gustav Eiffel, reflect the French colonial elegance that stands as a sign of the times. For book enthusiasts, don't forget to pass by Book Street, where you can get words of blessing from a calligraphy master. From this area, stroll along April 30th Park to visit the historical Reunification Palace.

It's not Tet Nguyen Dan without 'The Feast of the First Morning of the First Day', or so the Sino-Vietnamese translation goes. Spend your luncheon across from the Palace at Propaganda Bistro, which serves a flavourful range of traditional Vietnamese dishes in a comfortable setting. Tet is also a perfect occasion to look back in time. Be sure to visit the War Remnant Museum to revise key historical events, war traces, and relics throughout different periods. After exploring every nook of the museum, take a breather in the cheery atmosphere at Tao Dan Park, where Saigon locals typically gather with their families in the beautiful springtime.

As sunset hallows, the city lights up. The Nguyen Hue Flower Street Festival is highly recommended for those who would like to experience the largest annual celebration of the Vietnamese New Year. Here, Saigonese dressed in Ao Dai may be seen gallivanting down the promenade and indulging in traditional activities. Finish your Tet outing with a one-of-a-kind dining experience at our Square One restaurant, where the quintessence of Vietnamese and French cuisines is captured perfectly.

THE SOUL OF EVERY EVENT at PARK HYATT SAIGON

Enthusiastic, well-organised and barely say no to any requests from our high demanding guests, Tuan Anh has built his first steps in Event Management career with our Park Hyatt Saigon family for more than ten years. Now as an Event Service Manager, he is responsible for overseeing many variable aspects of an event at once by coordinating with internal teams such as Sales, Kitchen, and Front of House as well as external team including Suppliers and Customers.

Ensuring a successful event requires many factors. “Every event throughout my entire hospitality career feels like my first event. Being well-prepared is essential but not enough, as things do not always go as planned! From personalised wedding parties, grand corporate events, intimate year-end celebrations to the world-class Passion Week, what I bring to my duty is professionalism, a cool head and a caring heart.” – revealed Tuan Anh.

There is no hiding the fact that being an Event Service Manager is a challenging position as Tuan Anh has to put himself in every guest's shoes. However, the satisfaction when exceeding guests' expectations and witnessing memorable moments of each event cannot be overstated. This source of motivation keeps pushing Tuan Anh and our Event team forward on a journey to fulfill dreamy events in your life.

Park Hyatt Saigon is delighted to introduce Wellness Reformation – the ultimate realisation of an all-inclusive wellness program throughout 2023. Inspired by Hyatt's three pillars of well-being: Feel – Fuel – Function, this comprehensive experience will take guests on a transformative journey to the pinnacle of well-being. With different themes in each month, our holistic program combines physical training, relaxation, nutrition, and recharge to suit each individual's health areas.

Kick off January vigorously with a Personal Training session (60 minutes) at our Fitness Centre. When it comes to fitness, self-discipline is essential. Strengthen your exercise routine by holding yourself accountable with our one-on-one training session. Our dedicated fitness professionals will guide you through an individualised plan that incorporates exercise screening, goal setting, and health education. A new version of you, empowered and thriving, is ready to be revealed.
